Launching week 46: New Learner Experience!

Launching week 46: Our Beta toggle for the New Learner Experience in your platform

The new experience offers a completely updated interface, designed to be even more intuitive and user-friendly. With the beta toggle, your participants can easily switch between the current and new interface, allowing them to explore at their own pace before the official launch, ensuring a smooth and convenient transition.

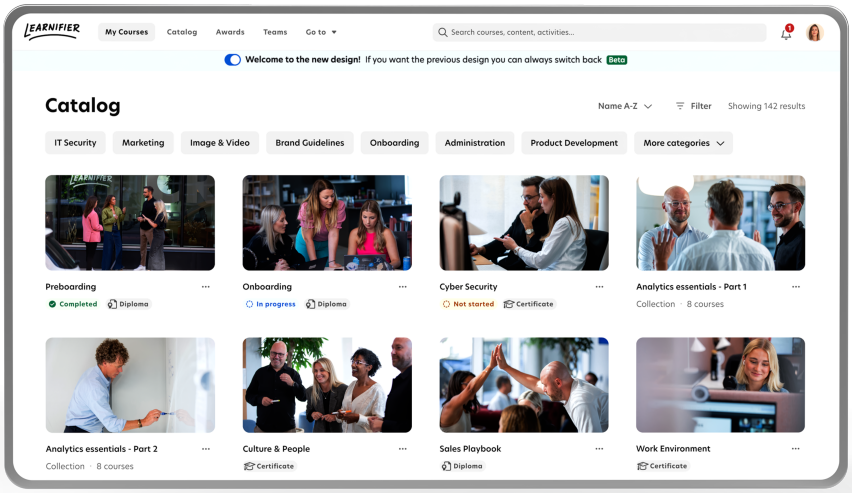

The new learner experience offers:

- A completely new look and feel: Experience a modernized and improved user interface that takes the participant experience to the next level.
- Optimized course view: A cleaner, more focused view that enables participants to easily navigate and immerse themselves in their learning.
- Improved accessibility: An interface designed to be more inclusive and useful for everyone according to Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG), ensuring that no one misses out on the opportunity to learn.

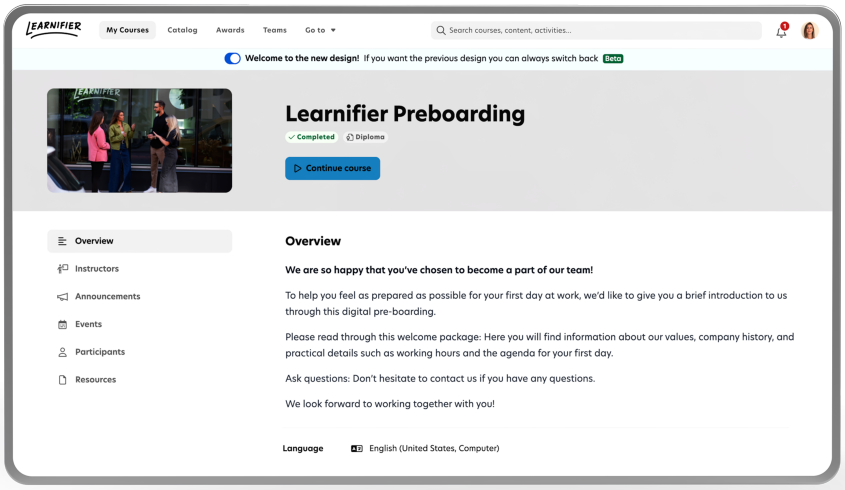

Practical Information:

- If you have customizations using CSS or HTML, these may be affected by the new interface, so please review your adjustments.
- If you have a sandbox environment we can activate the beta toggle there, allowing you to explore the new experience before it goes live in the production environment.
- Early in 2025, we plan to disable the beta toggle and make the new interface the default for all users.

Would you like early access? Contact your point of contact or support@learnifier.com, and we'll activate the beta toggle in your environment!
