Relase note: May/June 2026

2026-06-23 - Gabriella Eriksson - Release notes

These release notes give you a quick overview of what's new in Learnifier, including new features and improvements designed to help you get even more value from the platform.

Summary

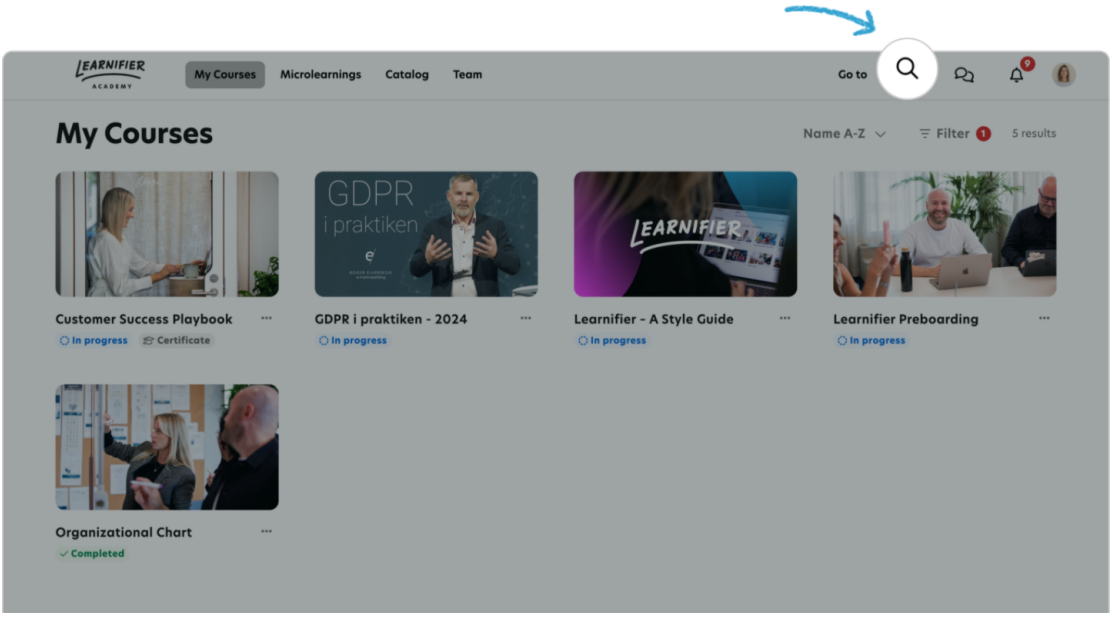

- A new global search experience makes it easier to find content across the platform.
- New flashcard templates make it faster to create visually consistent learning content.
- New permission controls for managing catalog settings in course templates.
- Team managers can now see actual completion dates in Team View.
- Improved traceability with a new course history log.
- Enterprise customers can customize which tabs are visible in courses.
- In BETA: Course selection & Bulk upload

Live

Global Search Experience

Search has received a major upgrade, now covering courses, content, catalogs, teams, awards, pages, and microlearning through a dedicated search interface. This makes it significantly easier to find relevant content and improves the overall user experience across the platform.

> Available to: Starter, Professional & Enterprise

Flashcard Templates

Five new responsive flashcard templates have been introduced, and existing flashcards are automatically migrated. This makes it faster to create visually consistent learning content and helps deliver a more polished learner experience.

> Available to: Starter, Professional & Enterprise
> Read more about the feature here

Catalog Template Permissions

A new permission setting makes it possible to control who can manage catalog settings within course templates. This provides more flexible and granular role management while strengthening governance and administration.

Available to: Professional & Enterprise

Completion Dates in Team View

Team managers can now see actual completion dates in addition to the latest activity date. This provides a clearer view of learner progress and improves follow-up on training and compliance requirements.

Available to: Professional & Enterprise

Course History Log

A new audit log shows who made changes to a course, what was changed, and when the change occurred. This increases transparency and traceability for administrators while supporting audits, procurement requirements, and operational governance.

Available to: Starter, Professional & Enterprise

Course Tab Visibility

It’s now possible to hide selected course tabs such as Discussions, Participants, Resources, and Announcements. This creates a cleaner and more focused learner experience while giving organizations greater flexibility to tailor courses to their needs.

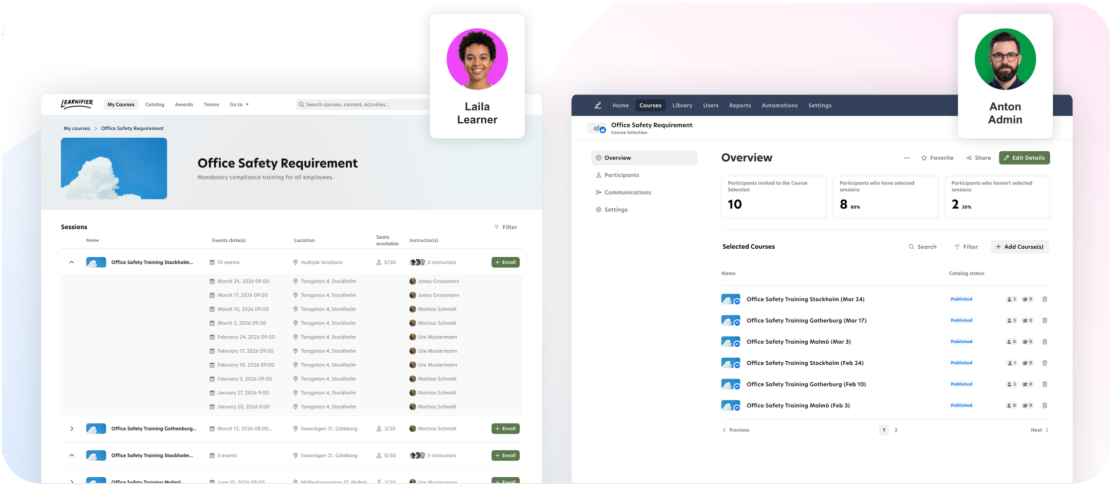

Available to: Enterprise

In BETA – Controlled testing

Course selection

Our new Course selection feature makes it possible to manage multiple events within the same course setup, reducing the need to create separate projects for recurring training sessions. This saves time for administrators, simplifies participant management and follow-up, and creates a more scalable workflow for high-volume training programs.

Available end of Q3

Bulk upload

Bulk upload makes it possible to create multiple courses at once by uploading a file. This reduces manual administration, saves time for course managers, and streamlines course planning for organizations managing large training volumes. Courses can be created from different templates in a single upload and automatically placed in the appropriate folder, creating a more efficient and scalable workflow.

Available end of Q3