What is the Learnifier app for Sitevision?

The Learnifier app for Sitevision brings learning and training directly into your organization's intranet. Employees can easily access their assigned Learnifier courses through Sitevision.

What is it used for?

The integration provides employees with a convenient way to access their training content through the intranet. By bringing courses and other work-related resources together in one place, learning becomes a natural part of the workday.

Availability

The Learnifier app is available to organizations that use both Learnifier and Sitevision.

Inform employees about new courses and videos

When new training content becomes available, administrators can use Learnifier to inform relevant target groups.

With Learnifier's communication features, administrators can send messages via:

- Email
- SMS

This helps employees stay informed about new learning opportunities and easily find their assigned courses through the intranet.

Good to know

How do notifications work with the Sitevision integration?

Notifications about new courses and videos are managed directly in Learnifier. Administrators can send information to relevant target groups via email and SMS.

The Sitevision app makes Learnifier courses available through the intranet. Currently, the app does not include a built-in notification feature for newly published training content.
